Two Kids was created by Iram Shariff, a Vancouver-based mom whose strong entrepreneurial background, alongside her MA in Design Studies from Central Saint Martins' in London, UK, gave her the idea to revisit her parents' textile manufacturing factory a year after she lost her father to cancer. Two Kids was created out of an attempt to re-charge a small manufacturing business that needed to be brought back to life.

The first line for Two Kids was released in early 2011 from a collection of fabrics previously collected by her father. The initial reaction was a very positive one, and today Two Kids continues to create fashionable pieces for busy children and adults alike, with an assortment of aprons, bibs, smocks and bedding products created and manufactured in Vancouver, Canada.

Two Kids provides fun, fashionable and purposeful clothing used to play with and protect all at the same time.
